After leaving its mark in 17 countries around the world, the international chain of teppanyaki grill and sushi restaurants, Benihana has finally arrived Delhi. Located inside (what's making a lot a buzz these days) Epicuria, the exciting new food mall in the basement of Nehru Place Metro Station, Benihana will teach Delhites how to enjoy Japanese food.

The authentic teppanyaki grill eatery opened its doors with an exclusive cocktail reception. The launch event also marked completion of Benihana's 50 years of being in the business. To celebrate both the occasions, Keiko Ono Aoki, the CEO of Benihana chain was also present. The event witnessed guests such as Varun Bahl, Bela Madaan, Rohit Bal, Prashant Verma, Mr. Rishi and many more along with the business heads and corporate.

Keeping true to the meaning of its name (Japanese for red flower), the decor of Benihana is indeed quiet vibrant yet soulful at the same time. Apart from the teppanyaki and sushi, what's Benihana chain is famous worldwide for is their theatrical chefs. Something Delhites will certainly look forward to.
